

To: Emerging arts leaders in [your area—e.g., the Metro-Atlanta Community]

cc: colleagues, community networks, and friends

Subject: Join us in October for a Creative Conversation!

[Your organization], in partnership with Americans for the Arts, invites you to join thousands of emerging arts leaders across the nation in celebrating October as National Arts and Humanities Month by taking part in Creative Conversations—a network of gatherings and events designed especially for emerging arts leaders.

When: [date and time]

Where: [location/address]

[Insert a brief paragraph about your particular cc. What format will it be—panel, workshop, networking social, brown bag lunch, etc.? Will there be a topic or theme for the gathering? Will there be any presenters or special guests?]

Register NOW online: [Insert link to your Creative Conversation event]

Creative Conversations are designed to serve young professionals who are in the beginning stages of their careers (35 years or younger) or people who recently joined the field (less than 5 years experience), but welcomes people from every age range and demographic group. The only requirement is that participants have the desire to enhance their leadership capacity and the drive to develop innovative, effective, and responsible management practices. Creative Conversations are an ideal way for new leaders, like you, to develop passion for your work with others as you continue to develop your leadership potential and your commitment to the arts. This is your chance to expand your local network, discuss challenges facing emerging arts leaders, share resources, and connect with a national community of your peers!

For more information, contact [enter your contact information].

Help us spread the word:

Forward this invitation to your colleagues, listservs, and other community networks. Post this invite in your newsletter, on your website, or on a bulletin board in your neighborhood.